To TRIVIÑOS (1987), the technique is characterized by deep and comprehensive study of one or few objects, in order to allow its broad and detailed knowledge.

2.4 PROCEDURES

To characterize the profile of the population and object of study, we use document analysis characterized, through the return of the enrollment of projects registered in the sport and recreation of the SESI-Unit Gate of the City of Curitiba, Parana, Brazil. For use with the document analysis, the search fall as a theoretical test, which treats the data with complete secrecy, revealing only the profile of the group rather than individuals.

3. DISCUSSION OF RESULTS AND CONSIDERATIONS

After a thorough analysis of the documents (tokens of affiliation), and the information presented data collected made it possible to assess subjective, but has done a "check list" complete.

The chips were evaluated for inclusion of the Project Athlete of the Future which has 200 children, the 280 enrolled in classes in yoga, dance exhibitions, lectures, theater, and the 180 recorded in Colonies Vacation conducted by SESI-Gate in the year's de 2006 and 2007.

Items of this important this search and were:

- age, object of this study;
- if they were school or not;
- time of ticket practices sports and leisure;
- parents industrialists or not.

As for the age group most about 70% of the chips lifted, was among children from 04 to 12 years, are exactly those that could still be explored with child labor, for our happiness, are enrolled in the project SESI and frequent the same.

Even under the condition of being school or not, portrayed is a very good index, because 99% of children and young people were school, meaning they are enrolled in schools of education and basic medium, just 1% of the chips were raised children below 7 years of age, so were not part of basic education.

But one interesting was noted, because the majority of students who made their entry to more than a year remain ongoing, or membership is very satisfactory to the SESI projects.

Although the social commitment is focused in industrialists and children the same, at the present time the SESI - Unit Portão, serves about 250 no children of industrialists which reinforces a commitment to greater society as a whole.

However, it can be considered that the projects offered by SESI - Unit Portão, really, allow rescue children and young child labor, because purposes has social, educational, occupying them in much of the time when not at school, working the development of sport and leisure in the counter-round.
